Introduce Yourself

Post a short message to introduce yourself, and tell us something you are comfortable sharing publicly about who you are, such as where you are from, what you like about probability, or what you hope to get out of this course.

Please post to the group that corresponds to the first letter of your edX username. If your username starts with a number post to the "Usernames U-Z or 0-9" group.

Please REPLY to the starter post or another current post, rather than starting a new post. If you are posting from the Discussion tab, please be sure to select the correct post category.
